Observations...

By the Editor

Tuesday night or Wednesday someone cut and stole 50 ft. of 3 1/2 inch rope, which was used for the little children to hold on to while learning how to swim. Kenneth Whitfield, Water Safety chairman, requested that we ask the one who did this to come and say that he did, and that he will, personally, buy for him whatever amount of rope he may need. The urge to steal comes very strong in some folks, and what, and from whom they steal matters not.

Our old friend Bob Murphy, stenographer for the Circuit Court of Hancock County, has been on the job 50 years. We worked with Bob for 31 of these 50 years, and during all of our experience in the courthouse, we have never had the occasion to be with a finer fellow. An article published in the Herald makes mention of Bob's efficiency and ability. We could add much to this about Bob's ability as a court reporter, and we would love to be able to put into book form, the many anecdotes we have heard about Bob since we first knew him back in 1917, particularly some of those told us by the late Judge Walter A. White. The wonder of it all is how Jimmie Cockrell ever got Bob to tell him how old he was. We wish you many more years, Bob.

We were invited by some members of the Square Dance group to go over to the Veterans Hospital with them last Monday evening. We really enjoyed the visit; and we were indeed pleased to see the work this group is doing and the pleasure they afford these men, who are there under treatment. Many of the patients are young men, veterans of World War II. Recreation of this type is beneficial to them, and the recreational technician tells us they look forward to the visit of the Square Dancers. There are not enough ladies in the group, and many more are needed, and in addition to the dancers Mrs. Charles Beyer, the Grey Lady of the American Red Cross who was in charge of the entertainment last Monday evening, says that they too, are in urgent need of volunteers. You have a splendid cause and an unusual opportunity to render a real service in the rehabilitation of boys who had the courage and patriotism to defend you and your freedom on the battlefield. There is little more you could do for them at this time.

Our old friend, Frank Quintini, has been named clerk of Cedar Grove Camp of the Woodmen of the World. Frank has been an active worker in the Woodmen for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Demoran, will open their self service laundryette July 14. They purchased the building formerly occupied by the Five Point Grocery and are completely renovating it for occupancy of the Laundryette, of which Mrs. Demoran will be in charge.

"Doodling" Pays For Mrs. C. Rhodes

Doodling has paved off in cash for Mrs. Charles Rhodes. Mrs. Rhodes, who is the mother of two active sons, finds time to think of and sketch Dixie Doodles to enter the contests held by the Dixie Brewing Company of New Orleans.

To date she has received 11 $25.00 War Bonds for doodles sent in during the past year. Last year she won seven bonds; and since January 1, she has received four. This year, one of her doodles was used for advertising purposes on a billboard, and Mrs. Rhodes received an additional $10.00.

The winning Dixie Doodles are published in THE DAILY HERALD; Mrs. Rhodes' winning ideas were: "Beer Barrel Coaxers," "Special Delivery," "A Star Buy," "First Class Delivery," "Ladies Thirst" (used on the bill board and in the TIMES-PICAYUNE Sunday magazine section), "Schooner of 45," "White Begins with 45," "Soft Bawl," "Motion Pitchers," "Jumping Jack," and "Her Thirst Romance."

When asked how she could find time to think of doodles, Mrs. Rhodes said, "The ideas come to me when I'm mopping or doing some other household chore. I wish I had time to stop and figure them out."

'No Substitute For Experience,' Says White, Candidate For Governor

Francis T. Favre To Run For Sheriff

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of Francis T. (Tubby) Favre, for the office of Sheriff and Tax Collector of Hancock County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary Election to be held August 7, 1951.

To the Voters of Hancock County.

I wish to announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff and Tax Collector.

I am a native of Hancock County, having been born, reared and educated here.

I know many of the people of this County personally, and I am acquainted with their problems.

I pledge my all to help promote business and industry and to build a better Hancock County in order that our citizenry may prosper, as the County progresses.

If elected, I promise to serve you faithfully by upholding the dignity of the office of Sheriff and by enforcing the laws of the sovereign state of Mississippi impartially and without fear or favor.

I considered it my duty in the year 1941 to enter the United States Army, and served honorably from 1941 to 1946. I then accepted an assignment and served from 1946 to 1948 with the Department of State of the United States government in the office of Foreign Liquidation Commission, and was credited with superior ratings in character and efficiency.

Most of my service was spent overseas.

I am an independent candidate with no hidden pledges nor secret alliances. I have no obligations to anyone except to the people of my county. I solicit your vote and ask for an opportunity to serve you as your Sheriff and Tax Collector.

Sincerely yours,
FRANCIS J. (TUBBY) FAVRE.

The drive for funds for the maintenance of the Bay St. Louis Youth Center is making rapid progress.

More than half of the $1,000.00 quota has been reached; to date interested citizens have contributed $879.50 to be used to operate the Teen-age club for a year.

The club was without operating funds at the beginning of the drive, and was on the verge of closing its doors to the teen-age children of the community.

By giving one dollar or more, the adults of the area will be providing for the future and welfare of their children and those of their neighbors. The Youth Center is an organization formed to provide the youth of Bay St. Louis and vicinity with supervised recreation.

If you are interested in the future of the men and women of tomorrow, send a contribution to Mrs. B. R. Nobles, directress, or Gerald Gex; treasurer, today.

Anyone interested in making use of this service is asked to call either Mrs. J. B. Goldman at 245 or Mrs. Leo Seal at 164.

Political Rally Is Set For Waveland

All State and County candidates are invited to attend a political rally at the Waveland Town Hall, Saturday, July 21, at 3:00 P. M. The rally is being sponsored by the Waveland School lunchroom.

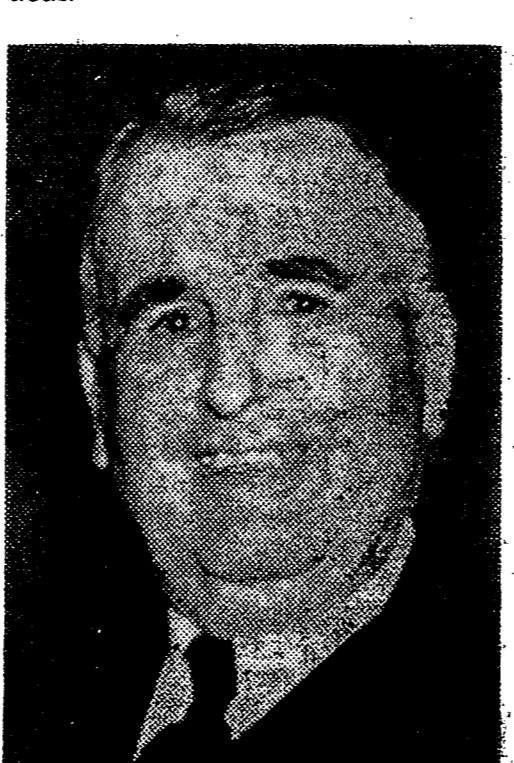

"There's no substitute for experience," Hugh White candidate for governor, said when he spoke to Hancock Countyans at the Court House, Tuesday, July 3.

White, who served as governor from 1936-40 and served in the State Legislature from 1943-47, is basing his campaign on his past record.

He emphasized his part in the Homestead Exemption Act, passed during his term as governor, that exempts one's home and 160 acres of property from all taxes, except certain city and county taxes.

Another of his projects, White stated, was the work he did on BAWI—Balance Agriculture with Industry. He told the people of Hancock County, "You need an industry, you need a payroll, BAWI is bringing industry to Mississippi."

The former governor also spoke on the improved road conditions, and the first Old Age Pension Plan in Mississippi, brought about during his administration. On the topic of labor, he stated that he had always given labor a "fair deal."

White expressed his support of medical improvements in the state. He said, Mississippi is building up hospital facilities so that everyone will be within 30 miles of a hospital. Over 30 of these hospitals have already been built and 64 more planned.

Giving his backing to rural electrification, White told his audience, "Mississippi was the first state to bring electricity to the farm; and I signed the first legislation." He added that, if elected governor, he would cooperate as fully as possible with the "many magnificent farmers of the state."

Speaking on the prohibition question, White declared, "I'm a prohibitionist, but I think the people ought to determine what to do about it."

White came out strongly for States Rights and said that the closer the people are kept to the government the more freedom there would be.

In closing, White denied that he was in ill health and too old for the job. He mentioned that he was 69 years of age, and predicted that when the other candidates, who he claimed, were spreading a rumor that he was too old, "see the results of the election, they would say, White is the fastest running old man they had ever seen."

Theatre To Produce "The Silver Whistle" July 12, 13 and 14

You are only as old as you make yourself, an adage that is often used, and in "The Silver Whistle," three act comedy by Robert McEnroe, this fact is brought to light. The play is based on the belief that regardless of physical age, a person can still be young of heart.

This whimsical play, under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Blair, will be produced at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, Thursday, July 12, Friday, July 13 and Saturday July 14.

Throughout this play, one man restores the hope of eternal youth in the old people who reside at the home for the aged.

With a cast of competent actors and actresses, the Little Theatre should score another direct hit with "The Silver Whistle."

This is a must for all theatre-goers as it promises an evening of hilarious entertainment.

A final concert will be presented in Jackson early this month.

NIECE OF BAY RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Florence Neville Griffith, 72, died at Jackson Baptist hospital, Monday, July 2, following an illness of several weeks.

Mrs. Griffith was the wife of Judge Virgil A. Griffith, former chief justice of Mississippi, and a niece of A. R. Hart of this city.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 3 p. m. at Gulfport: First Presbyterian Church; Dr. J. N. Brown, pastor, officiated. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

Mrs. Griffith was born in Scotland March 15, 1879. Her father, the late Judge John H. Neville, who was then attorney of this judicial district and later circuit judge, moved with the family to Biloxi in 1896. There, Mrs. Griffith married in 1903, and moved to Gulfport in 1905.

When Mr. Griffith was elected to the state supreme court in 1928, the family took up residence in Jackson and made their home there until January 1949, at which time she and her husband returned to Gulfport when Justice Griffith retired.

Survivors include her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Gillespie, of Meridian, Miss.; Mrs. Susan Griffith Hagaman, Jackson; a son, James Neville Griffith, Port Arthur, Texas; and her uncle, Mr. Hart.

Mrs. Agnes Wentworth and her son, Edward Wentworth of St. Louis, attended Mrs. Griffith's funeral.

The annual Church Fair for the benefit of the Church of the Annunciation, Kiln, will be held Sunday, August 5, at Kiln. Dinner will be served, and various forms of entertainment offered.

City Encounters Paving Difficulty

The City of Bay St. Louis apparently has encountered the first difficulty in their street paving program in a clash of the Asphalt Paving Company against the City for the unlawful dumping of slag, to be used in this program, on property leased by the Asphalt Paving Company from the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company.

The Mayor and Commission Council were notified by Gex & Gex, who represent the Asphalt Paving Company, in their letter of June 23, copy of which follows:

June 23rd, 1951
Board of Mayor and Commissioners
Bay St. Louis, Mississippi
Gentlemen:

This is to advise you that I have been employed by Asphalt Paving Company to represent them in the claim that they have against the City for the unlawful dumping of slag on property leased by Asphalt Paving Company from the L. & N. Railroad Company. We wish to advise you that we will consider it a trespass on your part if you go upon the leased property to remove this slag. It is hope that you will not attempt to move this property until some adjustment for damages can be made.

I shall be happy to discuss this matter with you gentlemen at your convenience.

Yours very truly,
GEX & GEX, Attorneys
By Lucien M. Gex.

The Mayor and Commission Council took the matter up at their meeting July 3, and it was moved, seconded and adopted by the council, with Commissioners Ladner and Glover voting Aye, and Mayor Carver voting Nay, that the following letter should be addressed to the Firm of Gex & Gex:

July 3, 1951
Gex & Gex, Attorneys,
Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.
Attn. Mr. Lucien M. Gex
Gentlemen:

We are in receipt of your letter of June 23, 1951, addressed to the Board of Mayor and Commissioners relative to claim the Asphalt Paving Company has instructed you to institute against the City of Bay St. Louis for the unlawful unloading of Slag on the property leased by the Asphalt Paving Company from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company. We further note that you will consider it a trespass if we go on the leased property to remove this Slag until some adjustment for damages can be made.

We fail to see where any damages have been suffered by the Asphalt Paving Company by the placing of Slag on the property leased by them from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company since the property is owned by the Louisville & Nashville (Continued on back page)

Extensive plans are being laid at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club for the District Lightning Championship to be held there July 10, 11 and 12. This is the second consecutive year that the Lightning fleets of this district have voted to have the races at a local club.

The winner of each race will receive a trophy and trophies will be awarded for first, second and third place for the series and the fleet representative winning the entire series in points will take the perpetual John Curran Trophy. The series winner will also be eligible to represent this district in the internationals to be held in Toledo, Ohio, late this summer.

Six member fleets, which will have representatives in the District Championship, are Lake Pontchartrain, Mobile Bay, Shreveport, Pass Christian, New Orleans and Bay-Waveland. These fleets are members of the Alabama-Louisiana-Mississippi District.

Such well-known Lightning skippers as Ed Overton, 1949 winner and Commodore of the 1951 District Association, and Cliff Prados, last year's district winner, will be on hand again this year.

These races promise to be some of the best that the Bay-Waveland Club has been fortunate enough to have on the Bay waters.

WOULD YOU VOLUNTEER?

We are certain you would not have failed in responding to a call to entertain the young men who wore the uniforms of the service of their country during the war, and particularly those who displayed much valor on the battlefields in the various theatres of operation.

These young men at that time were the heroes of our country, and nothing was too good for them. Who were they? What does that matter now? Their service, and perhaps their many recorded and unrecorded acts of heroism have been forgotten.

Many of these boys did not return to their homes and loved ones. Of the others who did, some are busily engaged in various enterprises throughout the country. But what has become of many of these young men who were heroes to us in 1917-18 and in 1941-45? Perhaps, you would find a partial answer to that question if you would pay a visit to the veterans hospital at Gulfport, or any of the other hospitals throughout the country which were staffed the same answer.

We had occasion to make a visit to the Gulfport Hospital last Monday evening when we were from Hancock County called the "Square Dancers." And who, on the first and third Monday of each month, go over to the hospital to give the veterans an evening of wholesome, clean entertainment.

The Square Dancers are a part of the Volunteer Service of the American Red Cross, which is under the direction of Mrs. Leo W. Seal, and conducted by the Grey Ladies of the local chapter.

At the hospital the Recreation Section Special Service, under the direction of Carl Friedland and his assistants, conducts various forms of entertainment each evening, such as game nights, little theatre, stunt nights, social dances and many other practical types of recreation; but we were told that the most anticipated is the bi-monthly visit of the "Square Dancers." Approximately 100 veterans were in the auditorium when the group arrived, and their expression did not contradict the statement of the assistant recreation director.

As the dance went on, we observed how eager many of the boys, and when we say boys we mean just that... youngsters in their early twenties, were to dance; but disappointment came to many of them for there were not enough girls, and many of the boys could not participate because they did not have a partner. The whole program lasted only an hour and a half. Could you give this much time twice a month to help build up the morale of young men who were willing to give up their lives for you, and who have probably given up their all as it appears in many instances? These boys need this type of recreation, and they need more people to join the group which offers it to them. Remove from your mind the thought of the type of institution you are entering, and think of the self-satisfaction that will be yours at the conclusion of the program, knowing that you have made possible an evening of pleasure for boys who were our heroes of yesterday.

Won't you arrange your schedule so that you may spend this short time twice each month with the Square Dancers or any other group offering this entertainment. Call the Volunteer Services of the local Red Cross Chapter, or any member of the group, and offer your services; and let us not forget, the men are as welcome as the ladies.

Wittmann - Knost Weddin gHeld

A recent marriage was that of Miss Lolette Marie Knost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Knost, and Harry Wittmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Wittmann Sr., of Pass Christian.

The wedding took place Saturday morning at eleven o'clock at St. Paul's Catholic Church with the Rt. Rev. Monsignor John J. Burns as celebrant, assisted by the Rev. Dennis Curran with Rev. Francis Quinn and Rev. Herbert Mullen in the sanctuary.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, entered the church to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin. The ceremony took place before the high altar which was decorated with white peonies and gladioli and tall branched candelabras holding lighted candles. Within the sanctuary were wicker standards holding white gladioli, peonies and ferns.

The bride's dress was of heirloom lace and white nylon tulle over taffeta. The fitted bodice had a high, round neckline and long tight sleeves. The bouffant skirt of nylon tulle had an overskirt of lace which extended into the short tulle train. The fingertip veil of illusion was held to the bride's head by a cap of matching lace and tulle. She carried a spray bouquet of white peonies and fleur d'Armoir.

The bride had as her attendants her sister, Mrs. Richard Chase Bittenbender, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, matron of honor; another sister, Miss Carol Knost, as maid of honor; and her cousin, Miss Rosalie Knost Ambler, as bridesmaid. They wore identical ballerina length dresses of all over embroidered organza made on simple lines and worn over pastel shades of taffeta, with small matching tulle hats. They carried spray bouquets of white asters.

The ring bearer was Richard Chase Bittenbender Jr., nephew of the bride; and the flower girl was Kathy Weston, niece of the groom. The bridegroom had as his attendants his brothers, Wendell Wittmann, as best man and Frank P. Wittmann Jr., and Joseph Wittmann as groomsmen.

The ushers were Carey Spence, Walters Terrell, John Curran and Brenard Knost.

The reception immediately following the ceremony was held at the Knost home on East beach, Tall standards and vases of white peonies, gladioli and daisies decorated the reception rooms.

The bride's mother, who was attired in a gray lace dress and lilac straw hat, was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Wittmann, mother of the bridegroom, and Miss Edna Knost, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Wittmann wore a sheen floral print with a navy blue straw hat. Miss Knost's dress was of navy sheer and her hat was of light blue flowers. All wore orchid shoulder corsages.

The bride and groom left in the afternoon for a wedding trip to Miami, Florida, and Havana, Cuba. For her going away costume, the bride chose a toast-colored printed silk shantung with a small straw hat and matching accessories.

cultivation will also cause the plant to throw off fruit and there will be a delay until new feed roots can be grown.

The crop is already late so it is important to do nothing now to further delay the crop. You can make a bale to the acre if you take care and apply what you know to the completion of your crop.

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL
Weevils are showing up in damaging numbers in the hill area of the state. The extremely dry weather delayed the emergency of weevils from hibernation; however the recent rains have brought them out in large numbers.

The best insurance against boll weevil damage is to poison all cotton that is beginning to square if weevils are found in the fields.

Remember, all weevils killed in older cotton means less weevils that will migrate to younger cotton later in the season.

Survival Under Atomic Attack

NOTE: The following material is taken in full from the official U. S. Government booklet "Survival Under Atomic Attack" and is reproduced here through the efforts of the Hancock County Civil Defense Council with the cooperation of this newspaper.

To begin with you must realize that atom splitting is just another way of causing an explosion. While an atom bomb holds more death and destruction than man has ever before wrapped in a single package, its total power is definitely limited. Not even hydrogen bombs could blow the earth apart or kill us all by mysterious radiation.

Because the power of all bombs is limited, your chances of living through an atomic attack are much better than you may have thought. In the city of Hiroshima, slightly over half the people who were a mile from the atomic explosion are still alive. At Nagasaki, almost 10 per cent of the people a mile from the bomb lived to tell their experiences. Thousands of survivors of the atomic attacks live in new homes built right where the old ones once stood. The war may have changed their way of life, but they are not hidden away. Their children are normal. Those who were ten, fifteen, or twenty years old at the time of the attack now are young adults.

WHAT ARE YOUR CHANCES?
If you are in a bomb shelter, your chances of living through the attack are very good. If you are not in a shelter, your chances are much less. But there is still a chance of survival. If you are in a shelter, your chances are very good. If you are not in a shelter, your chances are much less. But there is still a chance of survival.

From 1 to 10 miles out, the odds that you will be killed are only 15 in 100.

At distances from 10 to 20 miles away, odds drop all the way down to only 2 in 3 out of each 100.

Beyond 20 miles, the explosion will cause practically no deaths at all.

HOME AGENT'S NOTES
By MISS MADGE ALLRED

When asked what she considered the most important thing about buying rugs, the Extension consumer education specialist answered, "Selection of a reliable dealer."

She emphasizes the selection of a reliable dealer, she said, for the simple reason it is hard for the average individual to be familiar with all the technical features of a rug.

But anyone can inform themselves about rugs, she believes. They can learn the important features to look for when buying rugs.

The three most important points to consider are intended use cost and serviceability.

INTENDED USE
A rug selected for a bedroom may be serviceable for the use it gets in that room, but unsuitable to the heavy traffic of a hall or living room. You may use rugs for less sturdy construction and more delicate colors satisfactorily in places where they receive little wear.

COST
Rugs of the same grade may vary greatly in price. For this reason, it is always well to shop around. Most homemakers usually buy rugs and carpets only once or twice in a lifetime, so you must consider long-term investment.

Read the labels for grades, fiber content, construction, strength and durability test records and recommended care. Price is not necessarily an index to quality. Rugs, cheap in price, however, may prove expensive in the long run.

SERVICEABILITY
Serviceability involves three main points—materials used, construction and color.

MATERIALS
Wool, cotton, rayon, nylon, jute (a fiber grown in India), deer (a special rug material made from wood pulp of fir or spruce trees), sisal (a vegetable fiber grown in tropical countries), and sea grass, the largest supply of which comes from French Indo-China, are used to make rugs.

CONSTRUCTION
According to the National Bureau of Standards, density or thickness of pile is a major factor in determining the durability of a rug. You can find the relative density by counting the number of tufts to the square inch on the back of a rug or carpet. Rare Oriental rugs may have as many as 500 tufts per square inch. Poor rugs of any weave may have as low as 25 tufts to the square inch.

All carpets and rugs, whether cut pile, loop pile or plain weave, have warp and weft threads. The warp threads run lengthwise and are set or fastened in the loom. The weft threads, or filling, run crosswise through the warp. The pile yarns of tufts, the threads that stick up on the rug, are woven or interlaced in and held by the warp and weft threads.

Whether the pile is long or short, it should be springy to the touch if the rug or carpet is made of wool. Depth of pile varies with different weaves. Short dense pile in certain weaves is more serviceable than long, sparse pile in other weaves.

In cut pile rugs, the surface yarn is of upstanding, straight ends. Axminster, Chenille, Velvet and Wiltons are examples of cut pile weaves. In the loop pile, of which Bussels and Tapes are examples, the surface yarn is looped with the ends of the loops woven into the body of the rug. The names used as examples are types of weaves, not brand names.

COLOR
When buying a rug made of wool, ask the salesman of the colors are chrome-fast. Chrome-fast colors are those with a metal base, which makes the colors fast to wash.

You will have to decide the particular color you want. Some people believe the color of the rug should set the tone of the room; others select a rug that will blend in with the other decorations. Either method is safe. Just be sure there is harmony between the rug, draperies and upholstery.

JULY 25TH IS DEADLINE FOR GI TRAINING

The deadline for starting GI Bill training for most World War II veterans is less than one month away, on July 25, Veterans Administration today reminded veterans.

The July 25 date applies to the vast majority of World War II veterans—those discharged before July 25, 1947, William K. Hinds, Mississippi VA Center Manager, said. Veterans discharged afterwards may begin their GI training within four years from the time they left the service.

A veteran actually must be in training by the cut-off date if he wants to continue his studies. Hinds emphasized. A mere application for training filed before the cut-off date, will not do.

VA, however, considers a veteran to be in training, even though he has temporarily interrupted his course for reasons beyond his control. The summer vacation is one such reason. Another would be the case of a veteran who had once started a course and now cannot resume it because he has returned to active military duty.

The VA Manager outlined the conditions veterans must meet for post-cut-off date training.

They will be expected to pursue their training continuously until completion, except for conditions which normally would cause interruption by any student.

They may change their educational objectives only while in training, and then for reasons satisfactory to VA.

And once they complete or discontinue their program of training after the cut-off date, they may not start another.

MISSISSIPPI JOB SELLING

The Senatorial Committee investigating job selling in Mississippi this week filed its report. Space here does not permit an extended analysis. However, the following "Conclusions and Findings" of the Committee should prove interesting.

"1. The Mississippi Democratic Committee, a self-appointed group which had no legal status, displaced the regular Democratic State Executive Committee which had been legally organized under the election laws of the State. This group, which was given unofficial recognition by the Democratic National Committee in the fall of 1948, selected Clarence E. Hood, Jr., as its national committeeman. In the summer of 1949 the chairman of the Democratic National Committee recognized Hood as acting national committeeman for Mississippi and designated him as Federal patronage adviser in the State.

"2. From 1949 until February 1951, most of the recommendations for Federal patronage in Mississippi were made by Hood. The bulk of the Federal patronage appointments during that period were for jobs as acting postmasters and rural mail carriers. Hood and those representatives of the Mississippi Democratic Committee to whom he had delegated his patronage powers were instrumental in appointing approximately 190 postal employees in Mississippi.

"3. Frank F. Mize, the chairman of the Mississippi Democratic Committee, who was responsible for the orderly management of the committee, allowed it to be operated in a slipshod manner and for over a year prior to this inquiry no committee meetings were held. As the result of this situation the actual operation and political power of the committee was usurped by a small group, including Clarence E. Hood, Jr., Frank F. Mize, Curtis Rogers, Forrest B. Jackson, and B. C. Beasley. Most of the other members of the committee took little or no active part in its operation or actually withdrew from the organization.

"4. The subcommittee, by reconstructing the woefully inadequate records of the Mississippi Democratic Committee, found that during its two and a half years of operation the committee is known to have collected approximately $65,000. Of that amount $21,000 was collected from Jefferson-Jackson Day dinners and $42,000 was received in contributions. However, the subcommittee is of the opinion that in all probability these figures do not represent the total amounts handled by the committee. This conclusion is based upon the fact that no effort was made to maintain adequate books or records, a substantial number of cash contributions were received by the committee and its representatives, there are serious conflicts in testimony regarding the receipt of such cash contributions, and the circumstances regarding the deposit of substantial amounts of cash in the personal bank account of Curtis Rogers.

"5. There is no evidence that the Mississippi Democratic Committee contributed any money to the Democratic National Committee and it appears that only a small part of the funds was used for any legitimate political purposes. Most of the funds known to have been collected by the committee appear to have been frittered away for travel and other so-called business expenses incurred by the small group of individuals who controlled the committee.

"6. Based on all of the available evidence the subcommittee is of the opinion that Rogers, Beasley, Mize, and Jackson used the political power of the Mississippi Democratic Committee to extort contributions from persons seeking Federal appointments in Mississippi. This group, both directly and through the use of minor political henchmen, sold post-office jobs and obtained money from various individuals on the promise that those individuals would be appointed to or would control the appointment of county positions in the Office of Price Stabilization. Actually there were no such jobs in the Office of Price Stabilization. Hood recommended the job seekers who were the victims of this corrupt practice and he delegated much of his authority to those who were actually selling the jobs. One witness testified that Hood was present when a representative of the Mississippi Democratic Committee attempted to sell that witness a job. Under these circumstances and in view of Hood's close relationship with various representatives of the Mississippi Democratic Committee, even though the evidence does not disclose that he handled any of the job-selling transactions personally, the subcommittee is of the opinion that Hood was aware of, or should have had knowledge of, the corrupt activities of his political associates and he cannot escape responsibility in this matter.

"7. The Post Office Department is primarily responsible for selecting applicants for post-office positions from the civil-service eligible lists. If, as in this case, the Post Office Department seeks the advice and recommendations of the Mississippi Democratic Committee or any other group or individual, it cannot avoid its responsibility for failing to appoint qualified personnel in a legal and proper manner. The testimony is in conflict as to what, if any, actual notice the Post Office Department might have had concerning the sale of post office jobs in Mississippi prior to the public disclosures in this case. However, in view of the widespread and open selling of these jobs in Mississippi over a long period of time, the Post Office Department, by the exercise of reasonable diligence, should have discovered and put an end to this illegal practice long before the matter was brought to public attention in February 1951. The Post Office Department did, however, act vigorously and promptly to uncover the sale of postal jobs after the matter was brought to its attention by Congress.

"8. The evidence indicates that Hood, Jackson, and possibly others connected with the Mississippi Democratic Committee sought to use the political power and prestige of the committee for their personal financial advantage by attempting to exert influence in Government contract, RFC loans, and other Government transactions. While there is no evidence that these individuals were able to profit financially from these proposed business transactions, the subcommittee is of the opinion that they would have continued to use their influence in the field of Government loans and contracts for their own financial advantage had they been allowed to retain their political power.

"9. The chairman and other officials of the Democratic National Committee are responsible for turning over Federal patronage rights and other political powers to the Mississippi Democratic Committee. The deplorable situation in Mississippi, which was disclosed as a result of this inquiry, is attributable to the fact that the national committee saw fit to invoke political reprisals by taking away the Federal patronage rights of the Mississippi congressional delegation and turning over that political power to an irresponsible and corrupt group which had no legal status under the laws of the State. Whenever the Federal political party or administration delegate political power, as was done in this case, to persons who are not answerable to the voters or who are not responsible even to the membership of their own political party, such action leads to the corruption of public affairs.

"10. The subcommittee staff has conferred with representatives of the Department of Justice concerning the sale of Federal jobs, the possible perjury in the record in this case, the attempted influencing of witnesses, and other matters which appear to involve violations of the Federal criminal statutes. As the result of the disclosures in this case, the Attorney General has instructed one of his special assistants to initiate a Federal grand jury investigation in Mississippi into all phases of the case. This special assistant has been also directed to assist in the trial of any criminal prosecution which might result from the grand jury inquiry.

"While the subcommittee does not condone the actions of those persons who brought or attempted to buy Federal jobs in Mississippi, it is the considered opinion of the subcommittee that the majority of those people were victims of a political situation which was not of their own making. The real culprits are those members and representatives of the Mississippi Democratic Committee who made it necessary for Federal job seekers in that State to pay for the privilege of obtaining Federal appointments. This vicious job-selling racket is especially despicable in those cases where disabled veterans and the widows of veterans were forced to pay substantial amounts for the recommendation of the Mississippi Democratic Committee, notwithstanding the fact that they had preference to these jobs as war veterans."

O P S NEWS

BEEF PRICE POSTING DATE CHANGED

The Washington Office of Price Stabilization announced Thursday, June 21, that the date on which retailers must post beef ceiling prices has been changed from June 25 to August 1.

OPS officials said the delay was ordered because of mechanical delays in delivering the Price Charts and because new lower retail beef prices are due to take effect on August 1. Officials have planned to reduce the price of beef and beef products by about 4 1/2 cents a pound on that date.

The OPS plans to furnish all beef retailers printed price charts to be posted in prominent places in their stores.

Mississippi housewives can refer to the price charts, which must be posted by butchers in meat markets in a readily visible place, to be sure they pay no more than the ceiling prices for beef cuts.

Business people in Mississippi needing copies of OPS Ceiling Price Regulations or any information relative to the Price Control Program should contact the District Office, 126 East Amite street, Telephone 519351, Jackson, Mississippi.

MANY CLUB ITEMS EXEMPTED BY OPS

Official 4-H Club and Campfire Grills supplies have been exempted from price controls, Acting District Director Wade H. Greckmore announced. The exemption also applies to used and waste foods sold by the Salvation Army. These articles were added to the list of merchandise sold by non-profit organizations. Selling prices of various items are strictly controlled by the organizations themselves.

SUGARCANE SUGAR

Sugarcane has been placed by OPS into a classification which allows manufacturers to pass on current cost increases of sugarcane sugar. The recent price amendments were issued to remove a discrepancy between beet sugar and sugarcane sugar. OPS officials said, and would have no direct effect on producer prices of sugarcane because it is currently selling below parity and not subject to price control.

COPPER AND BRASS SCRAP

New ceiling prices on copper scrap, copper alloy scrap and brass mill scrap have been established by OPS in Ceiling Price Regulations 46 and 47 both effective June 26. These regulations generally restore pre-Korean differentials below new metal prices. The action means that ceiling prices for copper scrap will be substantially below current prices.

GIFT WRAPPINGS EXEMPTED

The OPS announces that decorative paper gift wrappings are exempted from price control for the year 1951. Specific items are enclosure cards, seals, tags, and money envelopes designed for special occasions and usually, but not necessarily, pre-packaged and pre-priced for over-the-counter sale. Not included are Christmas greeting cards and other similar types of cards. Basis for the amendment, which is effective June 26, is that industry usually prints prices and counts on the package which cannot be altered without severe hardship to the industry.

Lee States SCS Uniting With ACP

As a further step in consolidating efforts of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Fitzhugh Lee, Chairman of the Hancock County PMA committee, says that arrangements have been made for the Soil Conservation Service to be responsible for the technical phases of the permanent type practices of the Agricultural Conservation Program.

This would be for such practices as terracing, constructing stock water ponds, drainage ditches, and similar practices.

The technical services needed will be provided either by SCS personnel or qualified persons under their direction, Lee says. He urged farmers of Hancock County, who are cooperating in the ACP and who intend to carry out soil and water conservation practices requiring technical assistance, to make arrangements for such assistance early to avoid delay and to give the county PMA committee an opportunity to make the best use of this technical service.

Lee says the SCS responsibility includes checking on the need for the determining if the practices, location, layout, any necessary supervision in construction and determining if the practices have been carried out in accordance with requirements to qualify for assistance under the ACP.

In Hancock County, J. L. Bishop of the Soil Conservation Service, will be in charge of this phase of the soil and water conservation work of ACP, Lee said. Arrangements for this service may be made with the county PMA committee, or Bishop, the Soil Conservation Service representative.

Riding the Ghost Turns Cabbie Into a Gentleman and a Scholar

By BILLY ROSE

The other midnight, after 15 hours of making like Joe Executive, I felt I could use a little fresh air, and so I stepped into a cab and asked the hackie to drive me around Central Park.

"How's business?" I small-talked.

"Pretty fair," said the cabbie, "but people are funny—soon as us hackies start making an extra buck, they act like we was profiteering or something. They forget all those years when we had to ride the ghost in order to keep our jobs."

"Ride the what?"

"The ghost," said the hackie. "That's what we used to call it when we threw the flag down and let the clock run without a customer inside. During the tough times there were fleet owners who would fire a guy if he didn't bring in a certain amount of business, so we used to run it up on the meter and pay it out of our own pockets. And we had to watch ourselves when riding the ghost or an inspector might nab us. The way I used to do it was to cruise around Central Park until I clocked enough to satisfy the boss—and do you know something? The biggest tip I ever got was on one of those nights when the ride was on me."

"Unconfuse me," I said.

"WELL, IT WAS LIKE THIS," said the hackie. "About a month after the stock market crash in '29, I'm cruising around Wall Street one afternoon, figuring that if a broker threw himself out the window I might get a chance to rush him to the hospital. But Wall Street's like a graveyard that day, and so finally I got disgusted and go into a speakeasy for a couple of shots.

"When I climb back in my cab a few hours later, I'm feeling no pain, and so I decide I might as well take the ghost for his usual joyride. And that night, Central Park is really something to see—you know, full of snow and icicles like a picture in a kid's fairy book.

"After making the circuit a couple of times, I'm about ready to call it a night when suddenly I get a feeling I'm being watched. And so I turn around, and sitting in the back is a little old geezer wearing one of those high collars and what they call a bomber hat. Naturally, this gives me quite a jolt, but when a guy is potted he's liable to get some pretty funny ideas, and so I figure out that this is the ghost I been riding around night after night. Brave-like, I crank open the window between us and start to talk to him.

"How you enjoying the ride?" I says.

"I'm enjoying it fine," says the ghost.

"Where can I take you?" I ask him next.

"To St. Patrick's Cathedral. And close the window—it's getting cold."

"THIS STRIKES me as kind of a peculiar remark for a ghost, but I do like it, and when we get to St. Patrick's the ghost gets out and I'm surprised I can't see through him like you're supposed to with ghosts.

"I'll never forget you for what you did," he says, "and especially the way you did it—pretending not to hear what I told you and driving me through the park on this beautiful night so I could see there was something in the world besides my own miserable problems."

"For the first time I begin to suspicion that maybe this ghost ain't no ghost after all, so I says to him, 'You know darned well I was waiting in the back when you came out of the bar,' he says.

"That explains it," I says. "I didn't see you because it was dark and I was kind of loaded, and I didn't hear you because the window between us was closed."

"You're a gentleman and a scholar," says the little old geezer. Saying which he fishes out a hundred-dollar bill and hands it to me.

"He starts to go away but I stop him. 'Just for the record,' I says, 'where'd you ask me to take you first?'"

"As if you didn't know," he says. "The middle of the Brooklyn Bridge."

Weekly News Letter

By W. F. Bond, Commissioner State Department Public Welfare

A widowed mother putting her children to bed at night knowing that they are hungry is a tragic picture and never should be allowed to happen in a land of plenty. Before the passage of the Social Security Act by Congress and the necessary cooperative legislation by our own State Legislature, this was happening in thousands of little homes all over Mississippi.

For the month of June, 1951, checks were sent by the State Welfare Department to 40,593 families representing 30,520 dependent children, with a general average of $18.93 per family or $65.77 per child per month. Within the last year over 6,000 families representing 17,000 children have been taken off the public assistance rolls. Reasons for closures were on account of relatives judged able to help, common-law relationship of the mother, parents remarried, improved economic situation of family, refused to work when jobs were available, etc. Deserving cases remaining on the payroll are not getting as much help as is really needed.

Bishop Ordains 26th Negro Priest

Amid the ancient beauty of the Catholic liturgy for ordination to the priesthood, the Reverend Leonard J. Olivier, S. V. D., of Lake Charles, Louisiana, and the Reverend John N. LaBauve, S. V. D., of Abbeville, Louisiana, were ordained to the holy priesthood by the Most Reverend Richard O. Gerow, S. T. D., Bishop of Natchez, Friday, June 29.

The event marked the tenth ordination and the twenty-sixth Negro priest to be ordained in the history of St. Augustine's Seminary. Bishop Gerow has ordained more Negro priests than any other prelate in the country.

The Reverend Clarence Howard, S. V. D., assistant Provincial, and the Reverend Maurice Rousseau, S. V. D., Prefect of the Major Seminary, assisted His Excellency. The Reverend Christian Baker, S. V. D., was in charge of the ceremonies, while the Reverend Hubert Posjena, S. V. D., directed the Seminary choir.

Following the ceremony, the Bishop delivered a short talk on the dignity of the priesthood. He congratulated the newly ordained, and asked the congregation to pray for their success. The Divine Word Missionaries were also congratulated by His Excellency for giving two more priests to the church.

A banquet was tendered the newly ordained; during the banquet, the Very Reverend William C. Bauer, S. V. D., Provincial of the Southern Province read the following telegram from His Holiness, Pope Pius XII: "On the occasion of the priestly ordination of the Reverend Leonard Olivier and John LaBauve, the Holy Father cordially imparts to the newly ordained and to all assisting at First Holy Masses His Paternal Apostolic Blessing."

The new priests offered their first Holy Mass Saturday morning in the Seminary Chapel, preceded by a procession in which their parents, many relatives and friends took part.

Father Olivier's first solemn High Mass is scheduled for July 8 in his home parish, Sacred Heart, Lake Charles. Father LaBauve's first solemn High Mass is scheduled for July 15 in his home parish, Our Lady of Lourdes, Abbeville.

During his first Mass, the Reverend Leander Martin, S. V. D., pastor of Immaculate Heart of Mary, Lafayette, Louisiana, was Archpriest for Father LaBauve; and the Reverend Hubert Posjena, S. V. D., Prefect of the Students, was archpriest to Father Olivier.

Mrs. Jeannette C. Carmichael Announces For State Representative

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of (Mrs.) Jeannette C. Carmichael for Representative for Hancock County to the State Legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary Election to be held August 7, 1951.

In the course of time we moved to Honduras and resided there for several years. The tropical countries did not agree with me and I was sent back to "the States" in 1923. I came to Bay St. Louis and have lived here ever since.

I entered the real estate business here, and my sons attended Taylor, Central and Bay High schools.

In 1939 my son, Mark, took over The Light; and, with my help, ran the little newspaper, until he entered the army, when he turned it over to me.

His death, as he, and others of his crew, were killed as their plane was engaged in a mission over Germany, was the greatest sorrow of my life.

I have tried to carry on the work of improving conditions in Hancock County as a monument to his memory.

I feel sure I will receive the support of the respectable element of the people, regardless of politics, creed or color. The gangster crowd of corruptionists will not give me their votes, or do I want them.

I believe the respectable people are far in the majority; so, I expect to be elected and will do my utmost to help to govern the county, bring in industry, and drive out graft and grafters, and shadowy "cronies" and "political" cronies from our midst.

You cannot have the town, Mark, with money and no going to Kings Daughters Hospital, Wednesday, July 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moses, celebrating the birth of a son, seven ounces, at Kings Daughters Hospital, Wednesday, July 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Chapman announce the birth of a daughter, Virginia, at the Memorial Hospital, Gulfport, Monday, June 25. Mr. Chapman is the son of Mrs. Gladys Chapman of Bay St. Louis.

Ed P. Ortte

SUPERVISOR, BEAT 5

ORTTE led the fight that destroyed organized County politics; abolished old system of using numbers instead of names and amounts on the claim Docket.

He is running strictly on his past record. He has always looked after the tax payers' interest. He has served you independently free from the dictates of any political faction. He solicits the support of all citizens. He respects and serves the poor and the rich alike. Here are some of the interesting facts the Courthouse records show since Ed P. Ortte has been president of the Board of Supervisors—AS:

No Bond issues with exception of School Bonds. No questionable transfer of County Funds. No refunding of Bonds. All principal and interest on bonds due have been paid. County bought $35,000 School Bonds, saving interest. Paid all debts incurred by County 1947 hurricane damage. First time in many years the County is operating on a cash basis. With approximately $400,000 in the County Depository and with no increase in taxes. The above are bonifide facts, not promises.
